

EXECUTIVE COACHING

Leading a company requires strong skills in strategy, leadership, team development, and decision-making. It requires exceptional hard and soft skills, and sharp intuition. Yet, “50% of CEOs report feeling lonely in their role, and 60% of them say it hinders their performance.”

Harvard Business Review

It has never been more important for executives to have someone to listen to their concerns, provide guidance, share insights, assist with planning and execution, and provide executive training. SCMEP’s Executive Coaching provides the tools and insights necessary to excel in today’s fast-changing manufacturing landscape.
